Great Suwannee River Cleanup Report
by Jay Bushnell, Richard Herman and Jim Hess

While our contribution for the river cleanup worked very well, the following are things to consider the next time we participate.

- Be careful to coordinate press releases. There was confusion with times. The Friends had the time set from 10:00 AM-1:00 PM with releases sent out with these times. There were also PR releases with 9:00 AM-1:00PM. These releases went out without any consultation with the Friends' coordinator, Jay.
- When folks call in to participate, use the registration form provided to get all the information requested (contact information, numbers of participants, boat type and location to work).
- Not only would contact information provide a means of notifying folks of a cancellation, it may provide contacts for future events. This may also provide a means to thank those who help.
- We really need to do a better job nailing down how many will participate. We over estimated which created some problems.
- Nurture the high schools participation. A Chiefland class helped at Camp Azalea. We need to see if we can get Dixie County High School students involved.
- Need more and longer handled grabbers and nets especially for the Town of Suwannee where they are not able to easily get out of their boats. Up river it does not seem to be as important.
- Continue to refine how to direct boats to work sections of the river.
- Finally, continue to stress the need to check in and then to sign out once they finish.

One final thought is that we might consider doing the lower Suwannee in September before archery. We have been doing our portion of the cleanup in December to avoid hunting season on the refuge and then Thanksgiving.

The advantage of starting in Sept. is we might be able enlist local divers while the water temperature is warm. This has been done up river and there was a lot of trash removed. Might even be able to locate Pirate Fowler's treasure! Ha.

Included by Peg Hall:

- We need a wheel barrow for heavy items.
- We need a scale at Camp Azalea.
- We need to warn captains that some people might overestimate their ability to hike the terrain and tell them it is best to just say the area looks too risky for the boat.
