Public Notice of Availability for Comment:

Draft Compatibility Determination for Hound Field Trials on the Lower Suwannee National Wildlife Refuge

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (Service) is evaluating a proposed use on the Lower Suwannee National Wildlife Refuge (Refuge). The proposed use is to allow recognized raccoon dog trial associations to conduct sanctioned “Hound Field Trails” under Special Use Permits.

Prior to allowing this use on the Refuge, Federal law requires that the Service first determine that the proposed activity is appropriate and compatible and, if allowed, must be re-evaluated every ten years. A compatible use is a proposed or existing wildlife-dependent recreational use or any other use of a National Wildlife Refuge that, based on sound professional judgment, will not materially interfere with or detract from the fulfillment of the purposes for which the refuge was established and the National Wildlife Refuge System mission. The Service develops a compatibility determination to facilitate evaluation of proposed uses, including anticipated impacts and stipulations necessary to ensure compatibility. A draft compatibility determination covering the anticipated scope of the activity is currently available for public review and comment.

The National Wildlife Refuge System mission is to administer a national network of lands and waters for the conservation, management, and where appropriate, restoration of the fish, wildlife, and plant resources and their habitats within the United States for the benefit of present and future generations of Americans. The purposes for establishing the refuges are provided on the first page of the draft compatibility determination.

The Service would like to know what you think of this proposed refuge use. All comments received within 30 days following the date of this notice will be considered in finalizing this compatibility determination. We hope to make a final decision on this proposed use within 14 days following closure of the public comment period.

All comments should be in writing and must be received no later than 24 July 2020. Comments should specifically articulate how the proposed action would, or would not, materially interfere with or detract from the Refuge purposes or System mission.
